

CRIG Inspire & Interact Series – FDI edition

14:30 – 14:40

Welcome

Comparative oncology: Mutual gains in cancer treatment for our best friends and ourselves

Prof. Ward De Spiegelaere (Laboratory of Veterinary Morphology)

14:40 – 14:50

Spatially resolved transcriptomics meets veterinary oncology: targeted insights into canine mast cell tumors with LCM-FFPEseq

Elise Callens (Laboratory of Veterinary Morphology & Laboratory of Pharmaceutical Biotechnology)

14:50 – 15:00

ConSarGhent: uniting veterinary and human expertise in sarcoma research

Shari Aerts (Laboratory of Veterinary Morphology)

15:00 – 15:10

Chitinase 3-like 1 as immunotherapeutic target in mammary tumors

Dr. Jonas Steenbrugge (Laboratory of Biochemistry)

15:10 – 15:20

Equine sarcoids: can they be knocked out?

Alexandre Merchiers (Large animal Surgery)

15:20 – 15:30

Bridging the gap between DNA and oncology

Iris Casselman (Animal Genetics Lab)

15:30 – 15:40

Approach to clinical trials in pets

Prof. Hilde de Rooster (Soft tissue Surgery, Small Animal Department)

15:40 – 15:50

Development of a new imaging technique to guide surgeons during tumor removal

Simone Janssen (Soft tissue Surgery, Small Animal Department)

15:50 – 16:00

Closing remarks & introduction to horseshoe throwing!

Prof. Ward De Spiegelaere